Flocked Trees

Add some color to your Holidays!

Flocking trees became popular in the 1940's, introduced by a kit that could be applied with your vacuum cleaner. Areosol spray flocking material could be purchased soon after that, which was far less disasterous for your vaccum cleaner- but was still fairly messy and caused uneven applications.
Now days, flocked trees can be done in a far less invasive way- and many more colors than just white.

How we do it:

First, choose a tree you love. Then ask one of Dan's Helpers to have it flocked in the color of your choice.

Your tree will go back to our farm with your name on it and the color you want. It is attached to a stand, set in a big room and spray flocked - and it stays there for a couple of days until it is dry.
The tree comes back to our store for you to pick up- fully flocked and wrapped for you to take home.

How much does it cost?

Please inquire at our store for current pricing.
Some color combinations or added glitter can offset the cost of your tree, and we strive to create it exactly the way you want it!

Benefits of Flocking:

Flocking not only adds drama, texture and color to your festive tree, it works as an excellent fire retardant.
You rarely need to water your flocked tree. It will keep needles from dropping.
It's cool and unique.
